The American BANKING System
is Democracy at its Best

There are some 16,000 American banks, each owned and operated by local citizens. Separate in a sense —yet they are knit together into one great 'system' by the common aim of service. Responsive to the needs of each community, yet they are geared to meet the nation's needs instantly in its hour of crisis. There's nothing like it elsewhere; it's the envy of every other country; it's democracy functioning at its very best.

Hobby Yields 200 Ingots Of Aluminum for Defense

SUFFERN, N. Y.—A mysterious stranger with a mysterious hobby drove to the community aluminum bin in this village and deposited 70 pounds of pure aluminum molded into about 200 cakes the size of muffins.

The stranger, who was about 30 years old, gave his name as Edward Strysko of Suffern, and said his hobby for the last 10 years had been to collect old aluminum and melt it down in his furnace into small ingots. When the nation-wide drive for aluminum opened he decided to contribute his hobby to national defense.

However, when village officials decided to inquire further into his hobby, they were unable to find any trace of Strysko. He is not listed on the tax rolls of the village or of Ramapo township in the outlying areas and he seemed to be unknown in Suffern.

Traveler Wasn't Praying, Mattress Needed Inflation

VISALIA, CALIF.—Dr. I. H. Betts returned to his home here after participating in a 100-mile horse-back trek with a reputation among his fellow travelers for being a devout, pious man, for they had noticed that he knelt at his bedside each evening. One complimented H. A. Orrison, a fellow townsman of Dr. Betts, on the fact that the physician prayed so regularly.

Orrison investigated the next evening. Sure enough, Dr. Betts was on his knees at the side of the bed, but instead of praying he was blowing away on a rubber sleeping mattress.

"Ha," said Dr. Betts, "I'm not praying now, but the next time I come on a trek like this I won't forget the pump that goes with this mattress."

Jet Gives New Sparkle To All Black Ensemble

For the sophisticate who likes to "say it" in terms of smart apparel there is an avenue of approach that leads directly to heights of modernism. It is the "black as a crow" ensemble that is being exploited this season and the ultra fashionable. To achieve this your black crepe or velvet dress is flecked with jet, intensified with jet passementerie at throat and sleeves. A tiny jet hat with a scrod at the back or a drape carries out the theory of seductive black. Gloves are of black, and wispy sheer black silk hose are worn with black suede shoes. The hand bag is either jet embellished or of lassie suede to match the shoes.

Use Lace Trim

Now that peplums and tiers and flounces and overskirt effects are in fashion, designers are enhancing them with edgings of either black or white lace. Lace yokes are also being featured. Removable, sheer sheer lace guimpes are sold at the neckwear counters.

Private Holds That Line As Bride and Pals Cheer

SAN DIEGO.—Cat calls and heckling from a long line of impatient soldiers, waiting to use a Camp Callan pay telephone, turned into cheers for Private Robert P. Kronewitter.

He set a new high for army pay-as-you-go phone calls at the San Diego camp by talking for 21 minutes to South Bend, Ind.

Kronewitter, a bridegroom of less than three months, was celebrating his wife's birthday by talking to her. Before he finished, he put 69 quarters and three nickels in the slot.

Said Kronewitter, emerging from the booth with a sweaty brow and a sublime expression:

"It sure was worth it!"

Bible Published in 12 More Tongues in Year

NEW YORK.—The Bible was published in 12 new languages last year, bringing to 1,031 the number of tongues in which some part of the scripture has been printed. The American Bible society said the languages were Zuni (New Mexico) Indian and dialects of Africa, Burma, Palestine and Ecuador.

Oversize Feet, Size 42, Shod by Blacksmith

KANSAS CITY, MO.—A squirrel-shooting Arkansas woodsman, claiming the biggest feet in the world, wants a job demonstrating for a shoe manufacturer.

Buster Scott, 28, of Snowball, Ark., stopped over in Kansas City to show off his size 42 feet, comfortably shod right now by the village blacksmith of Snowball.

The feet that the blacksmith had to fit are 16 inches long, 8 inches wide, and the toes 5½ inches around. Scott has been touring the nation for two years and said he likes traveling "very much."

Scott, who said he was an expert squirrel shooter, is 6 feet 3 inches tall and weighs 170 pounds. His feet are three sizes larger than were those of 490-pound Robert Wadlow, the Alton, Ill., giant who died last year.

Although he has a low draft number, Scott isn't worrying about getting into the army. He is classified as 4-F, but even if he were in 1-A he's quite sure the army would not want to indict the Snowball blacksmith to make his shoes.

Pay Roll Checks Carry A Pledge of Allegiance

SEATTLE.—Employees of the Pacific Car and Foundry company pledge allegiance to the United States once a week.

On the back of each payroll check is stamped a pledge "to support and defend the Constitution and laws of the United States against all enemies, foreign and domestic."

By endorsing his check, each worker thereby signs the pledge.

'Prime, Choice, Good' All Mean Tender Steak

AMHERST, MASS. — Five little words—prime, choice, good, commercial and utility—are the guides for buying beef.

Prime is tops in the official beef grading scale but "choice" and "good" are most common at family meals, according to Massachusetts State college food experts.

They say if you wish to avoid a tough steak don't buy meats in the latter two classifications.
